In-House Tech Counsel (flexible)

Are you an experienced in-house tech lawyer looking for interesting work and flexible days/hours?

Join our team and work the days/hours you want, fitting around other things that are important in your life.

Our lawyers work with a small portfolio of interesting clients and use their experience to help them grow, working directly with management teams, focusing on building strong long-term relationships.

You'll work autonomously, from home or the office, but also as part of a collaborative and like-minded team. You'll be supported by great colleagues and tools, as well as our wider support network. We have regular team training and meetings to ensure on-going support, shared knowledge and continued collaboration.

- Work with founders/CEOs/CFOs/COOs of fast growth companies to manage and execute their legal strategy and budget.
- Manage and carry out day-to-day legal work, including setting up sensible contract templates and contract review processes, closing out deals quickly and efficiently, helping protect and exploit assets, managing compliance and risk.
- Build strong relationships so you can identify areas of need and help prioritise the legal work and budget.
- Do more than law, work as a business partner.

You need to be:

- An experienced in-house lawyer, preferably having been the sole lawyer or part of a small team for a fast growth tech business.
- Qualified as a lawyer in England/EU member state/US with at least 5 years post-qualification experience.
- Proactive. Someone that likes to dig around and get under the skin of a business.
- Commercially astute, strategically minded with strong business acumen and, above all, practical.
- Able to manage multiple stakeholders and requests and prioritise risk, spend and legal work.
- Organised, driven and flexible in approach.
- Technologically able.
- Able to thrive in a fast-paced, changing environment
- A team player who can also work autonomously

You need to have:

- A good working knowledge of tech, SaaS/software licensing, IP law, data/privacy laws, general contract/ commercial work, etc.
- Strong analytical, drafting and negotiation skills.
- Excellent interpersonal and communication skills.
- Good decision making and problem-solving skills.
- Languages would be a bonus.

LEGALEDGE

About LegalEdge: We are a flexible in-house legal service provider. We work very differently from a law firm – we do not have an old-fashioned hierarchy, and we value each team member based on how they can help the team as a whole provide the best service we can, rather than how long a team member has been doing a role or worked with us. That means you are in charge of deciding how you work, and you can tap into our guidance and support when you want it. Our way of working doesn't suit everyone, but if you like having full ownership and autonomy over your work, we could be a great fit.
